

CAROL SIVILS

As manager of Energy Efficiency Advocacy for Kansas City Power & Light, Carol is responsible for enhancing Energy Efficiency through outreach efforts with KCP&L's customers and key stakeholders to find working, sustainable solutions to Energy Efficiency policy issues. She is also responsible for advancing Energy Efficiency through federal, state and local policies and working closely with key stakeholders to build community collaboration efforts related to the promotion of demand-side management products and services.

Carol has been with KCP&L for over 24 years and has held various roles during her tenure with the company. She has participated in a variety of corporate, regulatory and strategic planning initiatives, including the development of KCP&L's Comprehensive Energy Plan. Carol graduated from Park University with a B.S. degree in Business Administration.