

MATTHEW GILHOUSEN

Matthew Gilhousen is a founding member and principal of TradeWind Energy.

In addition to leading the development effort for the Smoky Hills project, his responsibilities include managing all aspects of site development and project design for TradeWind Energy's wind energy projects, including site selection, land acquisition, meteorological studies, energy production modeling and environmental assessment & permitting.